The Delta MEC Communications Committee is pleased to introduce a new format and title to the weekly Code A Phone. The weekly publication will now be called Vectors to reflect the variety of technology and distribution methods employed.

Vectors is available as an e-mail push, an audio podcast and a recorded phone message. It is also posted to the Delta MEC website and the Delta MEC Communications Facebook page. Upon its distribution, the Committee also tweets a link to Twitter subscribers of the Delta MEC Communications Twitter feed.

We have updated the format to present the topics in bullet fashion before expanding on their respective details. The Committee hopes that the new format is helpful. We will be evaluating feedback in the coming months on this and our other communications tools.
